

In the November Newsletter, There is an article titled "Insulation Offer" . In that article it states that Rocky Mountain Power and Questar Gas will each pay 35 cents to have attic insulation put in your home. If you read that you probably thought --- Well that sure is a big deal. A whole 70 Cents. --- The article should have said 35 cents each per foot. In other words, between the two companies, they will pay hundreds of dollars to have insulation put in your attic if you meet the requirements of having less than 8 inches insulation now, use both Rocky Mountain Power and Questar Gas and have Central Air Conditioning. Contact information is available in the office. Sorry for the miss print in the original article.

Thanx,
